In historic victory the celebrity scientists: Lucio Munoz honored with Pierre Fauchard Research Award-2015 in Environmental Management. Ahead of several thousand competitors, Lucio Munoz representing Canada won prestigious Pierre Fauchard Research Award-2015 in Environmental Management. Again Canada has proved its International leadership via producing brilliant scientists in the form of Lucio Munoz. IASR expressed, 'It is a privilege to have such international celebrity from Environmental Science among us who will shape the future of this domain.' Lucio Munoz made International news headlines while IASR announced them among World's 500 Most Influential Environmentalists for Year 2015 on Earth. It gives immense pleasure to explore the new dimensions of Lucio Munoz. International Agency for Standards and Ratings (IASR) is highly indebted to affiliated Vancouver, BC, Canada for admiring the efforts and raising the confidence of intellectuals.

Planned and carried out research on deforestation in Central America as part of his PhD thesis 1996-1998 and updated the research in 2000, which he shared freely in the internet. He started keeping statistics of visits in June 2001 and by December 2015 the number of visits to the site is expected to reach 55, 000 visits

While at UBC he wrote about 100 abstract and articles between 1993 to 1998 related to forestry issues, deforestation issues, other environmental issues, social issues, economic issues, methodological issues, all from the sustainability point of view, but there was no much interest at UBC or in Canada in general at that time on moving away from traditional thinking. And to save those research ideas he created his True Sustainability Website making it his personal commitment to advance and promote sustainability theory and indices from then and on, which he share freely in the internet. he started keeping statistics in June 2001 and by December 2015 the number of visits to the site is expected to reach 70, 000 visitors

He write and publish independently for pleasure slowly getting out those ideas developed while at UBC that otherwise would have been lost, first publishing in the USA and later everywhere where there was interest in publishing original ideas. He has 44 publications so far.
